Increasing bank regulation...

... drives rationale for selling overdue debt

- Provides balance sheet benefit, especially for FIs under increased regulatory pressure
- Immediate cash proceeds rather than waiting for DCAs to achieve collections
- Simple compared to running an in-house collection team or managing several DCAs
- Chance to forgo requirements and costs associated with establishing and maintaining debt collection infrastructure

Significant growth in volume of NPLs being sold...

Purchase of unsecured financial institutions consumer NPLs in Hoist's current markets

EUR billion

... which is set to continue over coming years

- Additional markets are maturing at higher pricing as fresher defaulted debt is sold
- Increasing competition and improved collectability due to a more favourable macro environment
- As market matures, sellers establish structured sales processes which leads to sellers selling debt more frequently and at earlier stages
- Sellers become more selective when choosing debt purchasing partners
